TO DISCONTINUE DISPLAY LIGHTS

Mayor Burkart and Interstate Public Service Company Notified of Commission's Order.

TO CONSERVE COAL SUPPLY

Local Merchants to Switch Off Electric Lights in Windows—Street Light Plan.

Mayor Burkart and the local office of the Interstate Public Service Company received official notice this morning from the Indiana public service commission of the coal conservation order issued by the commission Saturday. The text of the order was printed in The Republican Saturday afternoon. The official notice coming to the local company states that the order is effective immediately.

The Interstate Company at the orders of the commission will turn off all street lights except on moonless and cloudy nights. Display signs in which electric current is used and electric lights in display windows in local stores will also be dark until the commission order is rescinded. The drastic step was taken, it was stated, so that the supply of coal available for utility plants throughout the state may be used only for purposes of public health, safety and for other emergency purposes.

The recommendations the commission prepared by a special committee and which are included in the order follow:

"Effective at once, electric current and gas used in sign, display and window lighting shall be discontinued."

"Electric current used for street lighting shall be discontinued except on moonless and cloudy nights."

"Traction Companies shall curtail their services to a point where only the necessities of the community served are taken care of."

"Heating companies shall furnish such quantities of water or steam and at such temperature that the heretofore adopted standards for heating buildings shall be lowered five degrees."

"Water supplied fountains and other displays shall be discontinued. Water pressure, except in case of fire, shall be lowered to such pressure that only the necessities of the community are served."

"Gas Companies shall limit the use of gas to:

- 1—Cooking.
 - 2—Lighting.
 - 3—Domestic water heating.
 - 4—Industrial uses.
- "Curtailement of service shall be governed by the general principles

District Meetings at First M. E. Church Sunday Attended by Large Audience.

OPPORTUNITY FOR SERVICE

Speakers Emphasize Important Place Held by Young People in All Christian Activities.

Two hundred out-of-town visitors and delegates from the various Methodist churches in the Seymour district attended the young people's activities conference which was conducted Sunday at the First M. E. church in this city. The attendance was larger than expected and the large audiences at the various services resulted in a noticeable spirit of enthusiasm and interest. The conference is one of a series to be held throughout Methodism in connection with the evangelistic campaign to be waged during the coming year.

The morning service was in charge of Dr. Frank McKibben, secretary of young people's work. He gave a forceful address on "Citizenship in The Kingdom," emphasizing that there is a work for the young people to do and that it is their duty to devote their energy and effort to things religious.

The afternoon meeting was opened with devotions conducted by Miss

THREE LOCAL STORES GET WORTHLESS CHECKS

Stranger Obtains Money in Exchange for Checks Signed by Western Refining Company.

A stranger representing himself to be Frank Parker and claiming that he lived on a farm between this city and Columbus collected several dollars on worthless checks which he passed at three local stores last Thursday. Checks were given to The Hub Clothing Store, The Gold Mine, and P. Colabunono shoe store.

The Hub and Gold Mine checks were each for $12.75 and the one given Mr. Colabunono was for $12.65. At each place the stranger purchased a few dollars worth of merchandise and gave the check in payment receiving the difference in cash.

The three checks were made to Frank Parker and were signed by The Western Refining Company by W. N. Nixon, payable at the Seymour National Bank. It was set out in the corner of each check that it was issued for hauling poles. No concern styling themselves as The Western Refining Company has ever carried an account at the Seymour National Bank.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

Local Boy Returned From Aurora by Sheriff H. L. McCord.

Ira Vogel, age 13, was taken into custody at Aurora Sunday by H. L. McCord, county sheriff, and returned to this county to face a charge of embezzlement which had been filed against him. The lad is charged with embezzling some money while employed selling lunch on traction cars. The boy gave bond for his appearance in juvenile court. He is said to have caused his mother much worry and has caused the local police considerable trouble.

PLAN MUNICIPAL CHRISTMAS TREE

Several Citizens Suggest Elaborate Entertainment for Children During Holiday Week.

PROGRAM IN 1916 RECALLED

Majestic Theater May be Secured for Entertainment on First Sunday Afternoon Following Christmas.

It became known today that a number of citizens are considering the advisability of holding another municipal Christmas entertainment here this year. The event which would be open to all children of the city may be conducted on December 28, the first Sunday following Christmas day. This date has been considered inasmuch as it would not interfere with the Christmas programs which are annual features with the various churches and Sunday Schools. It is likely that the entertainment will be given on Sunday afternoon.

The proposed entertainment serves to recall the first municipal Christmas tree and program which was given here in 1916. Thousands of people assembled around the giant cedar which was hauled to West Second street, between Chestnut and Walnut and the brilliantly illuminated cedar was one of the features of the entire holiday week. Santa Claus himself was present and supervised the distribution of the sacks of candy and nuts which the ladies of the city prepared. A special program of Christmas music was rendered during the evening.

The entertainment was a complete success and the only objection heard against it was that some were prevented from attending the open air meeting on account of the cold. For this reason it is proposed that an indoor entertainment be given this year, but in all other respects it would be very similar to that arranged in 1916. The Majestic Theatre is about the only building large enough to accommodate the crowd that would attend and that auditorium would be taxed to its capacity if the crowd three years ago is an index to the probable attendance this year.

Fred Abel is back on the municipal Christmas entertainment idea and it is known that a number of other men are enthusiastic over the plan and are ready to assist Mr. Abel in any way they can. The plans for the event will be worked out in detail during the next few days, it is understood.

LOCAL BOY INDICTED AT NIAGARA FALLS

Clarence Robbins Charged With Taking Automobile and Driving It Without Owner's Permission.

J. T. Abell, chief of police received a letter from Watts, Hunt & Findley, a law firm at Niagara Falls, N. Y. this morning stating that Clarence Robbins, who gave his home as Seymour, had been indicted there with another boy on the charge of taking an automobile without the owner's permission and driving it from Niagara Falls to Batavia, N. Y. The law firm stated that the boy says he has never been in trouble before and asks that the police chief mail them a statement concerning his past reputation. Chief Abell stated today that so far as any court record shows, the Robbins boy had never been arrested or had never caused the local officers any trouble. The letter from the law firm stated that providing that Robbins had never been in trouble before it was possible that the judge before whom he is to be tried will give him an opportunity to make good. Robbins is said to have left this city for Indianapolis some time ago.

33 RECEIVED BY BAPTIST CHURCH

Evangelist Hayworth Closes Successful Meeting—Fourteen Are Baptized by Pastor.

BIG AUDIENCE IN EVENING

"Brotherhood and Chastity" Subject of Address by Evangelist at Men's Meeting.

"It was one of the most spiritual and helpful missions ever held in this church," declared one of the prominent members of the First Baptist church today in reference to the two weeks' evangelistic campaign which closed Sunday night. The Rev. F. A. Hayward, the pastor, and his members agree with the statement, as they feel that the meetings have been an inspiration and have resulted in immeasurable good for the church. The evening service Sunday brought the meetings to a close and while the last service lasted for more than two hours the members and visitors remained to greet each other and it was a late hour before the church doors were closed.

A men's meeting was held Sunday afternoon when Evangelist Hayworth spoke on "The Contribution of Christ to Brotherhood and Chastity." Great interest was manifested in the message of the speaker in which he emphasized the influence of Christ on the world, bringing high ideals, truths with challenging power and a spirit of brotherhood which visualizes the presence of the Master in the actions of men.

Thirty-three members were received during the two weeks and others will follow in a short time. Fourteen were baptized by the pastor Sunday, including a number of boy scouts in uniform. During the services more than fifty reached decisions to accept Christ. Mr. Hayworth left here today for Washington where he will continue his work.

Services of unusual beauty and impressiveness were held throughout the day, beginning with the Sunday School at which Evangelist Hayworth and Jay C. Smith, director, both made pleas for church membership and loyalty. Baptismal services were conducted both at the morning and evening worship hours. The soloists for the day were W. G. Geile and N. R. Martin. Mrs. H. G. Stratton presided at the organ.

STOLEN HORSE AND BUGGY ARE RECOVERED

Animal Owned by Glenn Swengel Is Taken From Hitch Yard Behind Hoadley's Store.

A horse and buggy owned by Glenn Swengel who resides in the Farmington neighborhood was stolen Saturday night between 7 and 10 o'clock and was found Sunday morning by Fred Kahars, a farmer residing north east of the city. Mr. Swengel had driven to the city Saturday evening to spend a few hours and left his horse tied in the hitch yard at the rear of Hoadley's Department store. When he started to go home he found that his horse and buggy were gone.

The police were notified and a search of the city was made without results. J. T. Abell, chief of police learned this morning that a loose horse and a buggy had been found near the Kahars farm and accompanied by Mr. Swengel went to that place this morning where the latter identified the outfit as belonging to him.

The supposition is that someone wanting to get to the vicinity where the horse was found had taken the rig and driven to the destination after which he turned the horse loose. When found Sunday morning by Mr. Kahars one of the front wheels of the buggy had been caught by a telephone pole which prevented the horse from going farther. The police are making an investigation in hope of running down the thief. A sack of flour and a box of rolled oats which had been left in the buggy by Mr. Swengel were missing and have not been recovered. Mr. Swengel is employed by the Central Pharmacy Company.

URGENT REPRESENTATIONS ARE MADE TO MEXICO

Government Demands Immediate Release of William Jenkins, American Consul at Puebla.

By United Press
Washington, Nov. 17—The government has made urgent representations to Mexico for the immediate release of William Jenkins, American consul at Puebla, arrested by Mexican authorities, state department officials announced today. Jenkins was arrested by the Mexicans and charges of having conspired with the bandits who recently kidnapped him, the alleged motive evidently being to split the reward. The state department understands these charges as baseless. Jenkins was released without bail two hours after arrest but is forced to remain in his home.

NEW WAGE SCALE BEING PREPARED

Miners Still Urge Their Demand But Are in a More Conciliatory Mood.

COAL SHORTAGE IMMINENT

Suspension of Miner Industries Reported—Curtailement of Use of Fuel.

By United Press

Washington, November 17—Actual work of drawing up a new miners' wage scale for the central competitive field, the greatest soft coal district of the country, started here today. Committees representing employers and workers met to draft the schedule. Later representatives of other mine districts were to agree on a wage scale based on a rate arranged for the central field.

The miners have not yet entirely receded from their demands for a five day week and a six hour day but they showed disposition to be conciliatory and indications today were that an agreement even though temporary would be reached.

Meanwhile reports were being received of miners returning to work in increasing numbers, although in many places hundreds were refusing to go back. Troops were being withdrawn from the coal fields, all fear of riots having disappeared. Fuel famine faced the middle west today.

With the strike of coal miners entering the third week, the reserve supply of coal was growing small and the pinch was felt in many cities.

Appeals for coal from the Dakotas, Montana and the northwest generally flooded the offices of the region fuel administration.

Suspension of some minor industries was expected today at a meeting of the fuel committee with representatives of manufacturers.

The railroads' supply of coal was reported low. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad reported the cancellation of four trains leaving Chicago. Several other trains leaving Milwaukee and other points along the route also were cancelled.

Practically no union miners had returned to work until today in the bituminous mines of the west since the strike call was rescinded.

There were some indications that a few miners might resume today, but the general impression among both operators and miners was that the men would remain out until the conclusion of negotiations now in progress in Washington.

STRIKE RECALL LEGAL

Statement by Dan Sims, Special Assistant to District Attorney.

By United Press

Indianapolis, November 17—Contentions of local and individual members of the United Mine Workers of America that the recall of the bituminous coal strike sent out by union heads under order of Federal Judge Anderson was illegal are not founded on facts or the statement of miners' officials, Dan Sims, special assistant to District Attorney Slack, in charge of the enforcement of the anti-strike injunction, said today.

DECREES DEFEAT FOR RESOLUTION

President and Hitchcock To Pass on Fate of Resolution of Ratification.

ARTICLE TEN IS THE ISSUE

Senator Lodge's Resolution in Effect Nullifies Clause, Administration Forces Hold.

(By Raymond Clapper, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, November 17—President Wilson today decreed defeat for the resolution of peace treaty ratification containing the Lodge reservation.

This was the outcome of a conference the president had with Senator Hitchcock, administration leader, according to Hitchcock. The president Hitchcock said, will "pocket the peace treaty" if it is ratified with the Lodge reservation. This means he will refuse to accept it.

The president, it was learned, directed that the administration supporters should vote against the resolution of ratification which is now being prepared by the senate sitting as a committee of the whole and which contains the Lodge reservation. If it is defeated Hitchcock will place a substitute resolution or ratification before the senate and if this is lost he hopes for a compromise. However, if administration senators do not succeed in defeating the first resolution the president will pigeonhole the treaty. He has the power to do this—simply to lay the ratification aside and ignore it.

"The president is much better and is full of fight," declared Secretary Tumulty today.

After the conference with Hitchcock President Wilson rode in the White House grounds in his wheel chair, the first time he has left the White House since early in October.

President Wilson will "Pocket" Resolution Containing The Lodge Reservation.

Unless Wilson reverses his previous stand, he will decree defeat for the resolution as it contains the Lodge reservation which the president holds nullified article 10 of the league of nations covenant. Hitchcock then plans to come forward with a resolution of straight, unqualified ratification which the opposition presumably will beat. A compromise will follow, Hitchcock believed. But Lodge and other opposition leaders were getting ready to resist any endeavor to introduce a new resolution of ratification after the one now in process of formation is voted on and beaten. They assert that defeat of this resolution will stave off the treaty and their plan is to have congress pass a resolution declaring the war ended immediately after defeat of ratification. Arrangements for negotiating a separate peace with Germany may be taken up later.

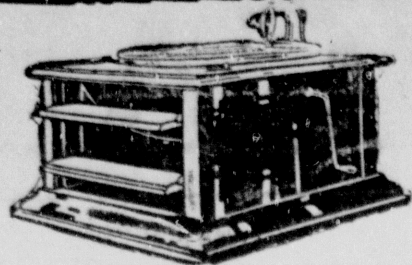

The senate today was to take up more of the Lodge reservations. It was expected that the entire reservation program, including the proposals put forward by senators other than Lodge would be disposed of by tomorrow and that a vote on the ratification measure would follow immediately thereafter.

With free advice available from banks and many other reliable agencies, it is surprising that so much money is lost by swindles and other fraudulent methods. Salesmen who have offered stocks of little or no value have reaped a harvest of gold and silver during the last two years. Fights which were never staged and horse races which were never run have also netted thousands of dollars for certain groups of conspirators. And despite the publicity and the warning given there are always men and women who are willing to turn their savings over to unknown parties. The result is always the same. During the recent trial of the Muncie fake fight cases, a farmer from Illinois fell victim in Indian-

THIS MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Both Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Steele, Ala.—"During the Change of Life I had hot flashes, was nervous, run down, and had sick headaches for two or three days at a time. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am much stronger and better in every way than I was. My daughter's health broke down last June from teaching school without a rest, and she has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Blood Medicine with good results. She is much better and teaching now and I give your medicine the praise. You are welcome to use this letter for the benefit of other suffering women."—Mrs. F. A. GAINES, R.R. No. 1, Steele, Ala.
Women who suffer as Mrs. Gaines did should not hesitate to give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial, as the evidence that is constantly being published proves beyond question that this grand old remedy has relieved much suffering women.
For confidential advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their forty years' experience is at your service.

apolis to two strangers who worked the same old horse race game. The experience would have cost the Illinois farmer $25,000 had not the Indianapolis detectives intercepted the "game."

The United States treasury department has repeatedly issued warnings to owners of Liberty bonds to protect them from parties who take them in payment for worthless stocks. During the last eighteen months newspapers throughout the country have published many accounts of where men and women have mortgaged their farms and their homes to raise money to meet the payments of various schemes. When the money is gone and the salesmen have departed the victims sometime reveal how they have been fleeced. Many others keep the deception and fraud to themselves.

In every case the motive of the victim is to make "easy money" and make it quickly. The promoters of the schemes are as shrewd as are found anywhere. They make a study of human nature, and it is upon this that they play. "Something for nothing" is the hope of the victim. Dreams of great wealth obtained without labor and effort are held before the parties who can secure the necessary money to make the schemes interesting for the promoters.

The best method for the average investor to follow is to advise with his banker or other friend who can assist him in ascertaining the standing of the company. If any investment is legitimate it will stand the closest scrutiny.

NEGRO GOES ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF PATROLMAN

Upshaw Northington Alleged to Have Shot Wade Hull, Indianapolis Officer.

By United Press
Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—Upshaw Northington, the black giant of Indianapolis' darktown, was to go on trial in criminal court here today on a charge of murdering Police Sergeant Wade Hull.

Hull was shot several weeks ago when he and a squad of other officers raided a crap game in which Northington was said to have been "rolling the bones."

The negro, known among his associates as "Big Boy," is charged with having fired a gun at Hull when the sergeant burst into the room where the game was in progress. Northington escaped then, but was captured and formally charged with the murder. He has stolidly maintained his innocence.

The city police department was thrown into a furor by Hull's murder. A net was spread tightly over Indiana avenue—the Fifth avenue of the capitol's negro district—and games of chance were raided on every side.

Western Electric Power and Light "ATTABOY" $395.00

Your Extra Hired Hand

Electricity on the farm has arrived. The application of electric power and light means as much to the rural dweller as did the coming of the automobile.

The Western Electric Company announces the development of a new type of privately owned plant for making electricity. In point of safety, simplicity of operation and economy of investment, it offers advantages which put it in a class by itself. The new exclusive feature that distinguishes this plant from all others on the market is the Western Electric Automatic Regulator. This successfully meets the two weak points common to most plants:—

- (1) It takes the place of the complicated switchboard and makes the starting or stopping of the engine a mere touch of the finger. No complex meters to puzzle over.
- (2) It automatically regulates the charging of the batteries—always the most sensitive part of every lighting system—so as to materially increase their life.

Here's an opportunity for every farmer in this country to get a complete Western Electric Power and Light Outfit for ($395.00) Money talks—it got a supply of these sets for me and I'm willing to share my saving with you. This is a standard Western Electric Power and Light Outfit mounted on heavy stringers with a 1½ Horse Power International Kerosene Engine. By unscrewing 4 nuts you can take this engine anywhere on the farm to do any chore you have waiting for it. It takes but a few minutes to take the engine where you want it and it saves you money—one big engine for all the big jobs. A full set of the reliable large Western Electric Batteries goes with the outfit. The very special price is ($395.00) and it means the saving of many a hard earned dollar for you.

"That's Dr. King's New Discovery for fifty years a cold-breaker"

NOTHING but sustained quality and unfailing effectiveness can arouse such enthusiasm. Nothing but sure relief from stubborn old colds and onrushing new ones, gripe, throat-tearing coughs, and croup could have made Dr. King's New Discovery the nationally popular and standard remedy it is today. Fifty years old and always reliable. Good for the whole family. A bottle in the medicine cabinet means a short-lived cold or cough, 60c. and $1.20. All druggists.

Regular Bowels Is Health

Bowels that move spasmodically—free one day and stubborn the next—should be healthfully regulated by Dr. King's New Life Pills. In this way you keep the impurities of waste matter from circulating through the system by cleansing the bowels thoroughly and promoting the proper flow of bile.

Mild, comfortable, yet always reliable, Dr. King's New Life Pills work with precision without the constipation results of violent purgatives. 25c. as usual at all druggists.

"The Eyes of The World."

Jane Novak is admittedly one of the most beautiful women in the realm of the film. She doesn't have to be starred to attract attention, or base drummed or press agented.

Nobody is starred in "The Eyes of the World"—although the cast of the great multiple-reel production of Harold Bell Wright's story was as carefully selected for type and ability as any picture ever produced.

Miss Novak will shine as a real beauty when Clune's great Cinema Production "The Eyes of the World" is presented at the Princess Theatre two days only, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 19th and 20th.

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Gently massage Musterole in with the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

ately started an investigation. He learned that the two boys had been seen with a basket full of edibles including apples, English walnuts, cigars, tobacco, pipes, cigars, bananas together with other merchandise and the officer immediately filed charges against the boys.

Young Waggoner and Weekly, accompanied by their mothers appeared before Mayor C. W. Burkart in police court this morning and after being questioned admitted to breaking into the store. They told the court that entrance was gained Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock by knocking off a board that had been nailed over a broken glass and Weekly, the smaller of the pair, crawled through the iron bars over the window and unlocked the door from the inside. Upon recommendation of Mr. Reynolds, the boys were allowed to go after their mothers had agreed to pay for the stolen tobacco, fruits etc. taken from the store, with understanding that the case will be held against them pending their good behavior.

MINISTREL AT LUTHERAN CLUB TUESDAY EVENING

Four Clever End Men. With Lots of New Jokes. Plenty of Good Music "N'Everything."

Members of the Lutheran club will stage a minstrel at the club house Tuesday evening to which the public is invited to attend. The show promises to be one of the big successes of the season and is supported by four end men, Otto Ahlbrand, Arthur Wilde, William Topie, and Martin Steinwedel, who are loaded down with brand new song hits and jokes right off of Broadway. The seats are selling fast and a crowded house is predicted. The cast includes some of the best talent in the city and according to some who have witnessed several rehearsals, Lew Fields or any other of the big time minstrel men have nothing on the Lutheran Club members when it comes to putting on a show. The performance starts at 8 o'clock.

 - 3—Service involving living necessities.
 - 4—Service involving economic production.
 - 5—Service involving public convenience.
- "Each utility, to a measure, must interpret and decide upon its relation to the community served but it is ordered that whenever a utility has two weeks or less supply of fuel on hand it shall discontinue furnishing its products to patrons coming under items 4 and 5, and shall so report to the Commission.

"Utilities are authorized to enforce the above orders after due notice through the public press by discontinuing service to those patrons who violate these orders."

The commission adds: "Reports from municipally and privately operated utilities and municipalities to this Commission reveal that as the result of the production of bituminous coal being virtually stopped, and the improbability of the resumption of coal mining in the immediate future, the State of Indiana is rapidly approaching a coal famine which will imperil public health and safety.

"The situation is further endangered by the fact that a number of utilities, though for several months faced with the probability of a coal shortage, have failed and neglected to lay in an adequate fuel supply to meet the emergency.

"The situation produced is such as to demand drastic action, and the Public Service Commission herewith puts into force and effect, by order as of Sunday, Nov. 16, the recommendations of the Indiana Utilities Coal Committee.

"However, that any municipality or utility, as such, may have appeal to this Commission against the application of this order of curtailment, the appeal, however, to rest on a showing that public health or safety is adversely affected to such an extent that its consideration should outweigh the consideration of conservation of coal."

How the

Cletrac

TANK-TYPE TRACTOR

Saves Money on Road Work

FIGURE out for yourself the cost per day of, say, six of your very best horses and mules.

You will find that you have an investment of not less than $1,500 and an upkeep cost of at least $800 to $1,000 a year.

Now go over your records—see just how many days those six animals worked during the last twelve months.

Remember that those days that they did not work must be counted as dead loss.

With these figures before you, you have a fair, conservative standard with which to compare Cletrac power—for on hundreds of road jobs the Cletrac is handling more work day in and day out than six horses and six mules can handle.

And it keeps on working regardless of weather conditions, and it isn't eating up a high priced feed while idle.

The Cletrac is the only moderate-priced tractor that works successfully over the rough ground.

“Flu” Fight
Is Now On

State Health Department of Ohio
Prepares to Fight Disease.

The State Department of Health of Ohio has planned an organization to combat influenza.

The state officials have been promised the assistance of the U. S. Public Health Service and of the American Red Cross in this fight on the epidemic.

“Prevention” will be the watchword. The records of last season prove that the Flu can be prevented. Every person owes it to himself, his family and his community to take every precaution possible to prevent taking the disease.

Captain Paul Preble, Washington, D. C., officer of the United States public health service, said history of previous epidemics indicate recurrence, and said little faith should be placed in vaccines as remedies.

The Flu germs always enter and develop through the respiratory organs—that is, the mouth, nose and throat. Prevent the germs from getting a breeding place in these organs and it will be impossible to catch the Flu.

A good germicide, used frequently will prove an effective preventor. Turpo is recommended by physicians and nurses, because it combines the old-fashioned remedies of turpentine (long known as the best home germicide), camphor and menthol, in a pure mineral base.

Snuff a little Turpo up the nostril several times a day, and the Flu germs will have little chance of getting a lodging and breeding place.

Buy a thirty cent jar of Turpo of your druggist now, while he still has a supply on hand. Last year the druggists could not supply the demand. Turpo has wonderful qualities in relieving colds and congestions. If in spite of all precautions, the Flu develops, go to bed and call a physician. It is too serious a malady to neglect any precaution.

Do your share in preventing Flu.

Our New Serial The Devil's Own

By Randall Parrish

THE tale concerns chiefly a diabolical plot by Joe Kirby (The Devil's Own) to first ruin at poker, Judge Beaucaire, a Missouri planter, and then get possession of his daughter. This comes to the knowledge of Lieutenant Knox of the regular army, who happens to be on the boat where the plot is conceived. He is powerless to prevent the robbery and the death of the Judge which follows, but he takes the cause of the girl as his own and after a series of exciting adventures defeats the scheme of the villainous gambler. The time is at the outbreak of the Black Hawk War, which forms part of the background of the story.

Plans were made for a big meeting to be held soon to start a campaign for pure-bred sires in the county. The survey revealed a surprisingly few pure-bred boars and only a third of these registered.

PURDUE TO GIVE WINTER COURSES IN AGRICULTURE

A winter course in agriculture which has been especially designed to meet the demands of many young men and women who for some reason have not been able to attend college or university will be given at Purdue University from December 29 to February 27 and will include the subjects of general agriculture, animal husbandry, commercial dairying and home economics. The course will be started in the early winter in order that it may be finished before spring so as to prevent its interfering with the regular farm work.

The work in general agriculture has been arranged for those who intend to engage in general farming and will deal with the care and fertilization of soils; the culture and management of the several crops of the farm and orchard and general problems dealing with farm operation, the operation and care of farm machinery and the planning of farm buildings, the dairy cow and her products, the management of poultry and farm sanitation.

The work in the livestock course is of a practical nature and will be suited to the needs of those who intend to make livestock breeding and feeding an important enterprise on a farm. In all of this work the large herds and flocks of the university will be available for use of the students.

Persons who intend to operate commercial dairy enterprises will be interested in the dairying course. This course will deal with the study of the properties and ferments of milk, the construction, and operation of the creamery and milk plant machinery and other subjects dealing with dairy production problems.

The home economics course will be open to all girls above 18 years of age and is planned for the instruction of the housekeeper who cannot spend a longer time on the study of the subject.

Many inquiries are being received at Purdue concerning the course and those in charge of it are expecting a good attendance. Tuition is free to residents of Indiana and there is only a laboratory fee. Anyone wishing further information should address the Dean of the School of Agriculture at Lafayette.

PURDUE FARED WELL IN DAIRY JUDGING

Purdue University's two judging teams at the national dairy show fared well in the contests there despite the fact that they did not win first in either the dairy products or cattle judging competitions. The team in the dairy products work landed in third place in competing with teams from six other states, and the one judging cattle landed in ninth place in a field of 18 contesting teams.

L. A. Jessup, of Mooresville, a senior agricultural student at Purdue, however, proved the best individual judge of Jersey cattle among the 54 young men competing and he won a $400 scholarship offered by the American Jersey Cattle Club. Jessup ranked ninth in the list of individual cattle judges. His team mates were B. F. Sellers of New Salem and J. M. Kirkpatrick of Raub.

B. E. Horrall, of Decker, Knox County, ranked third in the dairy products judging contest, and won a gold medal. F. K. Schmidt, of Spencer, one of his team mates, came eleventh and R. E. Roberts, of Lafayette, the third member, came ninth.

Prof. L. H. Farechild coached the cattle judging team and Prof. H. W. Gregory gave the dairy products team its coaching.

TRUSTEE BEAUTIFIES HIS SCHOOL GROUNDS

The trustee of Elkhart township, Noble county, has decided to beautify the school grounds of his township and has enlisted the support of County Agent B. V. Widney in some landscape work. This is being started at Wawaka where the ground has been graded and suitable shrubbery is being set out. The ground is being prepared at two of the consolidated schools in the township and the same program will be used for all of them. The trustee will employ a custodian to keep the grounds up after the work has been well under way.

BOYS' CLUB CALVES BEAT THEIR FATHERS

Boys in the Huntington County Pure-Bred Shorthorn calf club made a name for themselves and their work at the recent county fair by showing in open classes against their fathers or other breeders and winning first places in the only classes they could enter. Merry Isabelle 3rd., a Scotch topped heifer, bought by Hubert Smith for $160 when the club was started a year ago, not only won first in the club contest, but also took first in the open class for two year old heifers. Young Smith won a trip to the International Livestock Show, the gold medal given by the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association, $10 from the District Shorthorn Breeders' Association, and $5 for first in the open class.

Another club boy, Virgil Friedley, showed Lady Goldendrop who took first in the junior yearlings open class besides second in the calf show. County Agent Fred A. Lowe reports. As a result of the calf club several new herds of Shorthorns have been started in the county and the grown-ups have realized they will have to step lively to keep ahead of the next generation of Shorthorn breeders who are just entering the game.

DEMONSTRATION ORCHARDS SHOW VALUE OF METHODS USED IN HENDRICKS CO.

The display of apples from demonstration orchards in Hendricks county, placed in a Danville show window have attracted the attention of hundreds of persons. The demonstration orchards in the county which received proper attention during the season produced a 35 per cent crop, while there was practically no fruit this year on uncared for orchards, County Agent R. E. Arnett reports. From trees left untreated in the demonstration orchards, it was barely possible to get enough fruit to make a display to show the difference in the yield and quality of fruit on cared for and uncared for trees.

ACID PHOSPHATE TREBLES NOBLE COUNTY WHEAT YIELD

The use of 165 pounds of acid phosphate to the acre increases the yield of wheat from 10.5 bushels to 30.5 bushels to the acre on one farm in Noble county where a series of fertilizer and variety demonstrations have been conducted by County Agent B. Widney. Acid phosphate gave bigger returns on the investment than any other sort of fertilizer although complete formulas gave the greatest net returns. Investments in fertilizer returned all the way from 100 to 1000 per cent. Red Rock showed up slightly the best of any wheat varieties.

You Can't Cure Rheumatism With Liniments and Lotions

If you are afflicted with Rheumatism, why waste time with liniments, lotions and other local applications that never did cure Rheumatism, and never will?

Do not try to rub the pain away, for you never will succeed. Try the sensible plan of finding the cause of the pain. Remove the cause, and there can be no pain. You will never be rid of Rheumatism until you cleanse your blood of the germs that cause the disease. S. S. S. has no equal as a blood cleanser, scores of sufferers say that it has cleansed their blood of Rheumatism, and removed all trace of the disease from their system.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at your drug store and get on the right treatment to-day. If you want special medical advice, address Medical Director, 49 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

SAVE SWEET POTATOES BY STORING PROPERLY

To keep that extra supply of sweet potatoes, cut off the vines after the first frost, dig them carefully, then spread the tubers out in a dry place where they may dry for a week or ten days. Some of the moisture in them evaporates, the skin hardens and bruises heal.

Select the mature, uninjured sweets and store them in slatted crates in a dry place where the air circulates. The temperature of the storage room should be as near 55 or 60 degrees as possible. The potatoes should never be placed where they can absorb the moisture or where the temperature drops lower than 55 degrees. A cool corner of the furnace room or place around the chimney in the attic will do admirably for small quantities which are to be stored.

By careful attention to these directions, sweet potatoes may be kept up into the holiday season, men on the horticultural staff of Purdue University state.

FERTILIZER PAID ON A WARREN WHEAT CROP

Clinton Tyler, of near Marshfield, Warren county, called on County Agent A. L. Gabler last year to find out how he could get a profitable crop from one field on his farm which was largely clay soil. Gabler recommended the use of high grade fertilizer on the wheat crop which Tyler intended to sow last fall. This year he threshed 17 bushels of wheat per acre off the field, which was two bushels above the yield of his neighbor's farm conceded to be much better soil. Tyler left a check strip in the field and on this plot the crop was hardly worth harvesting.

"Are you going to apply fertilizer again?" Tyler was asked recently. "Don't ask foolish questions," he said. "With the crop I harvested, and the good stand of clover I have, why shouldn't I use it again?"

STORE THOSE PUMPKINS TO HAVE PIES LATER

You can have New Year's pumpkin pies aplenty if you select the well ripened ones and carefully store them.

Only pumpkins which are well colored with very tough, thick rinds should be selected for storage. These should be gathered with care, previous to hard frosting. Any specimens which have been injured either in growing or handling should be discarded. Storage pumpkins should have stems attached. Place the pumpkins in a warm dry room where the temperature is kept above 65 degrees. They should be separated and never placed directly upon cement floors or other places where excessive moisture is present. Squashes may be kept in the same manner long into the winter months.

INSTITUTE SPEAKER GROWS MARKET TOPPERS

Ward F. Martindale, of Wilkinson, Hancock county, one of the farmers' institute speakers, is a consistent and successful cattle feeder, and for the last three years has raised the kind that has topped the Indianapolis market. In 1918, Mr. Martindale set a record with some prize Shorthorns, they bringing $21 per hundred. His cattle the year before also set the mark for other feeders to attain, and this year he sold a bunch at $18.50 which was the high price for several days.

In the treating of seed wheat recently in Clarke county, it was shown that about 10 per cent of the weaker kernels were killed by the hot water method. As a result, the men who have had their seed treated, will sow a peck more to the acre than they did formerly.

The Shelby County Farmers' Association has arranged with the Shelbyville Chamber of Commerce to fight a $3 per year rate increase being sought by a telephone company, basing their fight on the fact that the company raised its rates the same amount less than a year ago.

SHORTHORN ASSOCIATION SUPPORTS "T. B." FIGHT

The Porter County District Shorthorn Breeders' Association has endorsed the federal campaign to eradicate tuberculosis in cattle by arranging for the testing of every herd in the association. The association which recently held its first sale, is arranging for a pure-bred calf club to be started in the spring.

Eighteen pigs and a large exhibit of canning and sewing materials were exhibited at the annual Jackson township, White county boys' and girls' club show, held recently at Burnettsville. One hundred and sixty-three grown-ups heard the program given in connection with the show.

The Madison county Shorthorn Calf Club completed its work recently with a sale of the calves. The lowest one sold for $240 and the highest for $500, while one of the animals brought $700, while she was on exhibition at the state fair. Nine of the ten calves put out to the club boys finished the year with complete records.

What would you do without newspaper advertisements?

What if there were no advertisements in any newspaper?

Lost and found articles might never be restored to their owners. Buying, selling and renting houses would be greatly delayed.

Merchants would be compelled to depend almost entirely upon those who passed by their stores for their trade.

Such a condition would set the hands of the clock of progress back two hundred years. It would limit trade. It would bring delays and annoyances and make purchasing risky and expensive.

This goes to show how important newspaper advertisements have become in our every day affairs.

Read them fully and faithfully. It may mean many added advantages in your life and dollars in your pocketbook.

"Madame, I beg of you to listen to reason—"

"Mr. Jones, if you are not out of there in two minutes, I shall telephone for the police."

"If you do not unlock this door in two seconds I shall break it in."

He waited two seconds; then taking the tool with which he had pried open the dumb-waiter door, he started to jimmy open the kitchen door.

"Stop!" I commanded.

He stopped—evidently thinking I meant to unlock the door.

"It won't do you one particle of good to jimmy this door open," I began, "because I have a chain-bolt on here the same as on the front door. Listen—" and I rattled the chain against the woodwork. "Do you hear that? Well, that means that before you can get through that door, you'll have to take it off its hinges—and you can't very well do that, because it opens in on your side. Is that clear to you? Look at the hinges, if it isn't."

I heard him say "Diable" again, fiercely but softly, and then tread quietly along the floor and push the catch on the window.

I flew to my bedroom, and seizing the revolver Billy had brought me, I threw up the window—at right angles to the kitchen window—and just as he was about to step on to the fire-escape and try the bathroom window, I shouted, "Hold on, there!" and aimed the revolver at his head.

He ducked back in a hurry, peeking at me from behind the window-frame.

"There's no use in your trying the bathroom window," said I. "It's nailed down, and before you could break the glass and get in, I'd have shot you dead. Go back to the kitchen door—I have something to say to you."

He did as I told him, and I returned to my side of the door, revolver in hand.

"Now, Mr. Robinson, I want you to go out the way you came in—and hurry," said I.

"Yes, madame, I shall do so immediately. But first I wish to ask you a single question—is a gentleman by the name of De Ravenol in your flat with you now?"

"Ask anything you please."

"Pardon—I did not understand what you said. Is he there?"

"I said you might ask anything you pleased."

"Ah—I understand now—"

"Mr. Jackson, I'd like you to understand one thing—my revolver is pressed against the other side of the door—hear that?" I clicked the muzzle on the door several times. "It is loaded and I can fire it. And I am going to—if you are not out of that kitchen in just three seconds."

"Certainly, madame. But before you fire, let me give you a piece of information that may be of value to you: I have a warrant for the arrest of that gentleman, De Ravenol."

Monsieur's hand flew up as he heard it and his jaw dropped open, but he made no sound.

"Have you a warrant for my arrest also?" I asked.

"No, madame—and I would not trouble you, only that we have traced the man here."

"Have you anything else to say to me, Mr. Simpkins?"

"Only to repeat that I have a warrant for De Ravenol's arrest and I believe him to be with you at this moment. And so I ask you to open the door."

"You have the warrant actually with you?"

There was a rustling of papers—"Yes."

"Slip it under the door and let me see it."

An edge of paper slid under the door and I made a dive for it. The edge disappeared.

"Will you return this warrant to me?"

"I'm not saying what I shall do—but I have the right to demand to see it, since you've broken into my flat."

There was a silence of considerable length—I don't know what he was planning to do, but I thought I heard him moving cautiously about, and I shouted, "You haven't any warrant! You are simply trying to get in here and rob me! Now then, Mr. Jenkins, I'll give you five seconds to get out the way you came in. I shall fire through the door when I count five. Ready! One . . . two . . ."

"Goodby," he called. "You will see me again—and wish you had been more civil."

"Three . . . four . . ."

I heard him scrambling onto the dumb-waiter and then the cumbersome, cloggy sound it makes when it goes down loaded. I waited till it had reached bottom and then unlocked the door and peeped in over the chain-bolt. He was gone—there was no pretense about it.

"Quick, monsieur," I said, snatching up his coat, "put on your things and go."

I thrust the ice pick in his hand, threw off the chain-bolt, dashed for the dumb waiter and began pulling it up, hand over fist, as fast as I could go.

"Mon Dieu! What shall I do?"

"Skip! Get down into your own flat and hide. That man will be back here with a police officer in five minutes."

"He will be back—after he is gone without to find me?—and he brings ze police?"

"Of course he will—just to justify himself to me if for nothing else—and to satisfy himself that you're not here in hiding. You heard him say he'd traced you here."

"Zen I am lost—and my little Claire is lost."

He seemed about to sink down in a heap again.

"No, you're not. Where's your hat? Get it."

He brought his bat from the dining room, jamming it on his head and whispering, as he looked at the dumb waiter: "How shall I make my escape zis? I have never in my life—"

"Get on," I commanded. "Don't stop to talk about it—unless you wish to be found here and arrested. You haven't a minute to lose."

He hesitated, murmuring, "Mon Dieu—how can I make my descent—"

"It's your only chance to save yourself and Claire," I urged. "Let yourself down to your flat and pry open the door. Hold her steady—go slow—count the doors and don't miss yours," I whispered as a parting warning, and he began his descent.

At that moment I caught the sound of the elevator coming up—it might or might not be the detective, but I took no risks. Leaving the dumb waiter door just as the Unknown had left it I slipped softly to the kitchen door, closed and locked it and put up the chain-bolt again. To the casual eye the kitchen was as it had been five minutes before, untouched, unopened.

As I stepped into the dining room the front bell rang long and loud.

I let it ring and ring again, and heard a voice, "Yes—she's there."

The fourth ring was followed by the pounding of a heavy hand.

I had been listening to the dumb waiter and it had now stopped. I thought it safe to make a move on my side, so I walked noisily along the hall and called through the door, "Who's there?"

"Police officer. Open the door, please."

"What precinct?"

There was a grunt before he answered, "Thirty-six."

"Oh, all right!" I opened the door on the chain-bolt.

There stood a broad-shouldered "one of the finest," and off to one side of him, looking very pale and insignificant, my detective.

"Oh, it's you!" I exclaimed affably, addressing the officer and taking no notice of the detective.

"If ye'll open the door—" he suggested very politely.

"With pleasure," and I took off the chain-bolt and threw the door wide open.

"Step in," said I. "Now, officer, what is the trouble?"

"Well, you see, this gentleman here believes you're hiding a party he's got a warrant fer."

"Help yourselves," said I curtly, moving aside to let them pass.

The Unknown darted along the dining room; the officer followed; I brought up the rear. A glance showed that both the dining room and my study opening into it were empty.

He went back to the bedroom—casting a glance at the kitchen door as he passed, which was chain-bolted as I'd told him it was—and looked under the bed. After that he peered into the bathroom and returned for a final survey of the double room before unlocking the kitchen door. As he threw it open the first thing that caught his eye was the dumb-waiter door, gaping wide the way he'd left it, and as he stepped across the threshold I shot off at him, "I hid your man in the refrigerator—be sure to look there."

And he pulled open the refrigerator doors!

I gave the officer a look. This was too much for the Irish in him, and he threw back his head with a guffaw. I checked him with another look that gave him to understand I thought there was something queer about my other visitor, who, very red now, slammed the doors and faced us.

"I'd have taken my oath that man was here fifteen minutes ago," he extenuated.

"Then he's give y' the slip," jibed the big officer—"If he was here at all." The tone of his last words showed considerable doubt.

"It would appear so," replied the other vaguely, and they followed me to my study, the officer, whose sympathies were all with me by this time, telling me heartily, "I guess that'll be all and we'll wish you good morning," and motioned to the Unknown to leave.

I smiled—I tried to make it a very sarcastic smile—and told the Unknown, "I hope this won't interfere with your keeping your appointment here tomorrow."

"Certainly not. With your kind permission I shall see you at nine o'clock tomorrow."

He bowed himself out. He seemed in a hurry, and I fancied he was anxious to communicate with his guard; and I shut the door on him, little supposing he'd really keep his appointment, or that when he did our positions would be reversed and I should be asking favors of him!

SAYS MERITONE

WORTH $1,000

Helped Steamboat Man After All Other Medicine Had Failed Him

"I have suffered from stomach trouble, weakness and dizziness for years and years, but today I'm practically a well man, Meritone is what brought about the change," said Neal White, popular steamboat man of Paducah, Ky.

"I think I tried every kind of medicine there is. My stomach was all out of order and finally I also got so that I'd be weak and dizzy a great deal. I felt tired out all the time and hated to go to work."

"A friend of mine told me about how Meritone had helped him and I got a bottle to try myself."

"Since taking that bottle I tell you I feel like a new man. I can eat anything I want without a bit of trouble and the former tired-out feeling is all gone."

"It's the truth that I wouldn't take $1,000 for what Meritone has done for me. Meritone has proved to be the best medicine I ever took and I want to recommend it to others."

Meritone, the tonic of real merit, is sold exclusively in Seymour by Maxon's Pharmacy.

Mary Mead, who is specializing in young people's work. Dr. Robert Brumblay, secretary of the life service department of the Methodist church, delivered a strong address on the opportunities of young people for christian service. He was followed by an interesting chart lecture by Miss Mead. Her drawings on the blackboard were relative to the agencies in any community for good or evil. She divided them as assets and liabilities, leaving the audience to determine which could be classed as assets and which were liabilities in community life. She also spoke with reference as to what constitutes real needs of young people in a given community for social uplift and character building.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the church served supper at 5:30 o'clock to several hundred people. A short social hour followed the lunch. During the meal music was furnished by the Sunday School orchestra.

Dr. F. I. Johnson, executive secretary of the Cincinnati area, delivered an inspiring address at the evening service upon the heroism of Christian ministry. He also exhibited slides which revealed opportunity for effective work by young people. The pictures also showed many young people who during the last year have volunteered for foreign service in France and the Orient. Dr. McKibben also gave a short talk in the evening on opportunity for young people.

The services during the day were very helpful and the visitors returned to their homes with a determination to enthusiastically carry out some of the suggestions offered by the speakers. The Rev. L. T. Freeland, district superintendent, who arranged the conference, presided. The Rev. Charles W. Whitman, pastor, assisted in preparations for the meetings.
